A Pittsburg Man Punished for His Second

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 9.—Another typewriter girl has revolted. Miss Mary S. Lyons 15 years old, and "as pretty as a picture." yesterday had J. H. Andrews, Superintend ent of the Metropolitan Insurance Co., bound over in $500 for trial on the charge of assault.

Andrews was sent to jail in default. The plaintiff's testimony before Justice Donovan drifte fire. The Manipuris' attack was stub-orn and determinedly made and they pushed borward in spite of the destructive fire with which they were received. The enemy fought aliantly every foot of ground. Finally the lanipuris were repulsed, the usurping Rajah and two prominent chiefs, all three of whom ad displayed remarkable bravery in leading Abbott kiss on her face. She said he had done the same before, but it was for fear of losing her position that she said nothing about the first offense. The second, however, was more than she could stand. Andrews denied emphatically that he had taken such liberties and said that he had merely patted Miss Lyons under the chin and jokingly remarked:
"Oh. what a pretty little thing." Mr. Andrews tried to prove by others that Miss Lyons was fond of that sort of thing, but he did not succeed very well. The Justice sagely remarked that the evidence showed that the defendant had taken undue liberties, and, in accordance with the testimony, he would accordance with the testimony, he would hold Andrews for trial.

cations in political situations in Washington. Taulbee was shot down on the steps of the House of Representatives Restaurant by Kincaid because of words previously spoken and threats passed on both sides.

On the day of the killing Taulbee was standing on the restaurant steps with Samuel Donelson, ex-Door-Keeper of the House. Donelson had asked him to meet there, and it was his intention to warn Taulbee to keep away from Kincaid so as to avoid trouble. Kincaid came up while the two were standing on the steps and said to Taulbee: "You see me now, don't you?" At this point the testimony conflicts, Donelson asserting that as he uttered the words Kincaid fired just as Taulbee turned to see who spoke. Kincaid claims that Taulbee struck him a blow in the ear, and that he shot in self-defense. The jury evidently took the same view. same view.
Wm. P. Taulbee, the man killed, was an exCongressman. Charles Kincaid is an exJudge and now a newspaper correspondent.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—It is understood here that John W. Mackay has determined to organize a company for the construction of an imposing hotel and apartment house in this city which is to cost $2,500,000. The site that is selected is one that will cause some surprise to the citizens of Washington, but Mr. Mackay has been advised by well-posted real estate men who know the trend of the city that he has made a wise selection. The property comprises a tract of 2,000 square he property comprises a tract of 2,000 square et, situated at the head of Sixteenth street on the north side of Fiorida avenue, which a few years ago was the boundary line of the city of Washington and officially designated as Boundary street. The property was pur-chased by Mr. Mackay and his partners in the enterprise for $400,000, which is at the rate of $2 per square foot. The owner of the property got control of it a few years ago at a cost of about $1, but by reason of not having expended any cash, but simply having assumed he notes of the various owners, he has real zed a profit of $150,000.

SENATOR EDMUNDS.

SENATOR EDMUNDS.

Senator Edmunds' voluntary retirement from the Senate is the topic of conversation in all circles of Washington and the cause or motive for it is as little understood as the motive for it is as little understood as the fact is surprising. Everyone admits that the United States suffers a great loss in the absence of this hard working statesman from the halls of the Senate, where he has so long and ably served. Democrats and Republicans alike express their sincere regrets at his departure. Though his resignation comes as surprise to many, it has been looked for by a surprise to many, it has been looked for by several of his close friends, as the statesman has not been enjoying good health of late and his wife and daughter are ill.

MISSOURI'S RANK.

Missouri is the tenth on the list of granite producing States in the census, the output averaging for the past ten years $500,642. Colorado is the fifteenth and is gradually coming forward. Minnesota has shown remarkable activity since the last census, and next to it comes South Dakota. Arkansas is next to it comes South Dakota. Arkansas is next to last on the list, but will rank higher in a few years, as operations have begun near Little Rock to quarry a syenite granite in great quantities. Georgia gives the most surprising figures and leaps from twelfth to sixth place on the list, going ahead of the great granite State, New Hampshire.

WAS "ARTEMUS" MARRIED!

The Claim Now Set Up by a Kentucky NEW YORK, April 9 .- J. A. Browne of Bloom

ngton, Ill., has come to New York to prove his venerable mother's claim, as the widow, to the estate of the late Charles F. Browne, or "Artemus Ward." Mr. Browne has retained the law firm of Ten Eick & Bemington, No. 17 Broadway, but no Japens will be filed pending an investigation. So firmly are the widow and children—the children all grown of Browne in Maine in 1884, only a year before the claimant was married. The widow's claim is supported by large numbers of affidavits sworn to by persons who know Charles F. Browne in Kentucky and Ohio at the time of and subsequent to his marriage and who afterwards identified him as "Arte-plographers of "Artemps Ward." whose real name was Charles Farrar Browne, say that he was born about 1884 in the town of Water-ford, Me. Here at once would seem to be a complete barrier to the identification of 'Artemus Ward' as the husband and father, but it is not sufficient to cenvince the claim-ants. "Artemus Ward," too, was supposed to have lived and died a bachelor. His death occurred in Southampton, England, on March 6, 1867.

He was not considered the most eligible of matches by her parents, and has been sternly forbidden admission to her has been sternly forbidden admission to her home, but despite the objections of the parents the young couple continued to meet. Col. Meyers had high expectations for his daughter, and desired her to marry Howard Bentley, a wealthy widower. She finally consented and yesterday was appointed for the wedding. The guests had assembled to witness the nuptials, the minister was on hand and a splendid feast was prepared, but on going to the young lady's room it was found that she had flown. Mr. Richardson had accompanied her to Martin, where they were promptly married.

In speaking of to-morrow's convention, Peter Wise said: "We want peace; if the men can make terms with the operators, the officers and leaders are willing to step aside. The operators have said that they are willing to meet the men, and we will give them an opportunity to do so."

THE CORONER'S INQUEST.

Interest is centered to-day in the Coroner's inquest which reopened at noon. So far nothing important has been elicited. The strikers seem to have renewed hope. The leaders have been at work among them for the past few days and the effect is noticeable. The men are holding off until to-morrow's The men are holding off until to-morrow's meeting, which was fixed by Master Workman Wise. It is evident some concession is to be made by the strikers, but just what it is cannot be asserted in the content of the con certained. The locked out men have been doing missionary work and there were less men at work to-day than yesterday. James McBride of the Miners' Executive Board says information was made last night against Capt. Loar and a number of his deputies charging them with murder. The warrants charging them with murder. are welding to convict a Democratic judge tion frauds is growing longer and stronger every hour. Several prominent Republicans have for the past two days neglected their business and spent their time day and night, collecting svidence, securing amidavits and the names of witnesses who will appear in the case. The offense charged is that a Democratic Judge and clerk in the Seventy-seventh Precinct of the Sixteenth Ward, threw twenty-five Republican and Independent ballots into the alley from a window in the rear alley from a window in the rear room of the polling place on Twenty-second street, between Benton and North Market streets. The polling place is a barber shop across the street from the engine-house and is composed of two rooms, a large front room and a small one in the rear. A window in the rear room faces out on the alley. The votes were cast in the front room, and the judges who received them were Fred H. Fricke, R. T. Hanlon, Charles Eichelberger, John Dennerlein, August Dressing and James E. Cape. The clerks were John Harning and Chris Weule. The Republican judges claim that at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when it was decided to August Dressing and James E. Cape. The clerks were John Harning and Chris Weuls. The Republican judges claim that at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when it was decided to count the ballots, one of the Democratic judges and a Republican clerk took the ballotbox and retired to the little room in the rear. They locked the door, and despite the appeals and protestations of the other judges, kept the door locked and refused to allow any one to enter, although Launcelot Ryan held a special written authority from Recorder of Voters Carlisle to be present and witness the count. The same men tried to make Ryan leave the polling place but he stood his ground and remained. When Judge Fricke, a Republican, said he could not enter the rear room, he closed the polls and kept them closed until the judge and clerk returned from the rear room with the ballot box.

Shortly after 2 o'clock Fred Torwegge, an employing carpenter living at 1946 Bentom is treet, walked out into the alley from his

Shortly after 20'clock Fred Torwegge, an employing carpenter living at 1946 Benton street, walked out into the alley from his shop, in the rear of his home. When within a few feet of the window in the rear room of the polling place a bundle of paper was dropped from the window by some one inside. Torwegge ploked the package up and opening it saw they were ballots. Before informing anybody of the find he carried them to his shop and assorted them. The bundle consisted of 25 Republican ballots, 6 or 8 of which had been scratched and the Independent candidates written in their place. The ballots all bore the marks and numbers of the receiving judges, which showed the ballots had been dropped in the ballot-box and recorded. It is presumed that the person throwing the ballots out of the window expected a confederate to receive them and mistook the footsteps of Torwegge for those of the confederate.

Mr. O'Neil promised his support in the prosecution, and said he would place the matter before the Independent Executive Committee, with the hope that material support would be rendered in securing the best legal talent in the city to prosecute and share their necessary expenses in punishing the men who robbed the ballot-boxes. knew nothing about it before the fraud was made public.

The contest inithis ward was between Ed McGroarty, a Democrat, and Albert Allenberg, a Republican, and Albert Allenberg, a Republican, majority of 200, but last Tuesday gave the Democrats a majority of 188. The ballots thrown out of the window were all cast by Republicans for Allenberg, and as the number of ballots in the box must tally with the number kept by the judges, twenty-five Democratic ballots, it is thought, were cast for McGroarty, which, if such is the case, and no other frauds were committed, would cut the Democratic majority to 108.

After wrapping the ballots up carefully Torwegge carried them to Interpretations.

THE GIBSON INVESTIGATION.

Evidence in the Alleged Whisky Trust Dynamite Conspiracy.

CHICAGO, III., April 9.—The Federal Grand-jury this morning began investigation into the charge against Geo. J. Gibson of Peoria, Secretary of the Whisky Trust, of conspiracy to destroy with dynamite the distillery of H. H. Shufeldt of this city. Which firm had declined to enter the trust. Gibson was arrested in this city on the above charge in February last and the Government officials claim to have complete evidence to substantiate.

After wrapping the ballots up carefully Torwegge carried them to Internal Revenue Collector Wenneker and he called in School Director Bus of that ward. Tuesday evening they called a meeting of fifty Republicans in Mr. Allenberg's house, at Twenty-third and Montgomery streets, and made the discovery public. ery streets, and made the discovery public.
The gentlemen present became so indignant at the outrage that more than half of them jumped to their feet and were about to leave the house and do violence to the judge and clerk, but cooler heads cautioned them and after discussing the matter a plan of procedure was adopted. Every man present subscribed $10 to a fund to begin the investicedure was adopted. Every man present subscribed file to a fund to begin the investigation and secure evidence and promised more to aid in the prosecution of the Judge and Clerk of the Oriminal Court. Testerday the poll-books were secured from the Republican City Central Committee and another meeting was held last night. The number written on the ballot by the Judge was found in the poll-books and the names of the voters who cast the stolen ballots were thus secured. The ballots on which the voters had written names were set aside, and a committee was appointed to call on the men who cast them, and if they identified the handwriting, to receive their amagivit before a notary. This was done to-day, and six of the stolen ballots were identified positively by the men who cast them, and wrote in the names of the Independents. To-morrow another committee will call on those who did not scratch the ticket and see if by any mark or fold of the ballot they can be identified. Several have already identified their ballot by the number of their vote in the rotation which it was cast.

scratch the ticket and see if by any mark or fold of the ballot they can be identified. Several have already identified their ballot by the number of their vote in the rotation which it was cast.

Another and very strong link of evidence was obtained last night. The clerk, who was with the judge in the back room on election day, was in a saloon near the polling place Tuesday night. He had been drinking and was quite garralous. There were about ten men at the bar when he entered and eight of them were Allenberg's friends and supporters. Allenberg is a hunchback and is between a feet 6 inches and 5 feet tall. He is called "The Little Fellow" by his friends ahd his joily disposition and great fund of humor has made him very popular. After taking a drink the clerk went up to the men at the bar which he was acquainted and said: "Well, I done the little ——— up and don't you forget it." It seems they did not and reported to Mr. Wenneker. The clerk is supposed to be a Republican and Mr. Allenberg was asked how he incurred the enity of the man.

"I paid him $6 for work he did at the lottery man who attempted to interfere with the taking of depositions in Attorney A. S. Trude's office, in the divorce suit of Brady against Brady, who was forcibly disarmed, was disposed of by Justice Prindiville to-day. Brady did not appear in court, but his attorney, in the divorce suit of Brady against Brady, who was forcibly disarmed, was disposed of by Justice Prindiville to-day. Brady did not appear in court, but his attorney. Fred Mitchell, entered for him a plea of guilty to the charge of carrying concealed weapons and a fine of $10 and costs was imposed. The pistol which was taken from the defendant by the lawyer was given to Mr. Mitchell. The charge of assault preferred against Tryde by J. C. Haffy, one of Brady file from were about the men at the bar when he entered and said:

"Tam perfectly satisfied with a fine of $10," the proper thing for a man to go armed into an office with the taking of depositions in the defendant by the mity of the man.

"I paid him $6 for work he did at the primaries for me," said Mr. Allenberg. "and later he demanded 55 more but I refused to give it to him. He threatened to get even and he has, but it will cost him something."

Though the Republicans have a positive case against the Democratic Judge and renegade clerk they are making investigations for further fraud and have found several good clues.

CARONDELET NEWS. ute Emmerson Seriously Injured by a Falling Beam—Mad Dog Scare.

Mr. Lute Emmerson, Inspector of Steam-boats for the Board of Underwriters, was inwhich is on the ways at the Marine specting the steamboat Charlotte Boeckler, which is on the ways at the Marine Docks undergoing repairs, about 8:80 o'clock this morning, when a timber weighing several hundred pounds fell from the hurricane deck of the boat and struck Mr. Emmerson on the left foot crushing the instep and fracturing the ankle. Mr. Thomas Moss, manager of the dock yards had Mr Emmerson conconveyed to his private office. Dr. Starkloff was summoned and the injury dressed. Mr. Emmerson was then removed to his home, No. 622 Virginia avenue.

The residents of South Broadway between Steen street and Primm were thrown into a wild state of excitement about 10 o'clock today by a mad dog rushing about the streets. The animal would run up and down the street and let out yelps that could be heard for blocks. He would run a short digtance, then fall down and lay for several minutes, shaking violently, as though suffering with convulsions. Several men, comprising John Reinkel, Ed Richler and Valentine Schrempp attempted to kill the brute, but the dog escaped them and ran madly down towards the River des Peres where it made its escape. The dog had not harmed any one, although quite a number of children were on the street.

Mr. Furlong Very Low. Mr. Furlong Very Low.

Mr. Thomas Furlong, the well-known detective, is lying very low at his residence, 2728 Walnut street, with paralysis of the brain, and Dr. Beed, who is attending him, stated to-day that he entertained scarcely any hopes for his recovery. Mr. Furlong is a man who has had an unusually strong constitution and until recently he was blessed with the best of health. He was for years the head of the Missouri Pacific Secret Service System, and since the road abolished that department he has done a great deal of detective work for the Wabash and other rail-roads.

TRUNK OF A WOMAN

Herrible Discovery Made at the Foot of Filmore Street.

PART OF A HUMAN BODY FOUND AT THE WATER'S EDGE.

The Body Supposed to Have Been Placed Where It Was Discovered, as There Was Every Indication That It Had Not Been Long in the Water-The Police

stonethrow of Elwood Station on the Misonethrow of Liwood states of the city, and Pacific in the south part of the city, elower limbs of a woman from the hips to knees were discovered this morning, apparently high above where an ordinary wave from the river could wash them. In fact, the complete remains were almost entirely out of water, presenting a ghastly spectacle to the hundreds of curious who came to take a view of that remained of some human being who, judging from all circumstances, had met with foul play. The clinging flesh presented a hard surface, unlike in every particular to what would be the case had the body remained in the water since death.

Never before, within the experience of lighting residents has a body, or part of one, in the peculiar condition of this one, come to ce of the water. At certain period the surface of the water. At certain periods after drowning the victim will rise to the surface for a certain space of time, but never after sufficient time has passed to allow of the complete drying up of the fiesh as in this

NOT A FLOATER. The body was discovered about $:30 this morning by Sergt. Dugey and Officer Thomas O'Brien, and that time it was almost completely out of the water; much higher than the water would cast it, and laying upon the the water would cast it, and laying upon the back, the bare knee caps pointing shoreward. The bones presented an appearance of having been scorched. An examination of the spot was made but nothing peculiar discovered, the officers, apparently, not seeing any difference between this and an ordinary floater, to which it bears no resemblance. The upper severance shows signs of unmistakable violence, the backbone being cracked in one place as though the breaking was done by some one who was in haste.

by some one who was in haste.

This morning a Post-Disparch reporter visited the place where the body lay, as yet untouched by any one. The place is just about 200 feet north of a skiff house, and one of the few places where the light from Broadwould be sufficient to avert danger to one who was unused to the spot. Right on the bank by where the body was found is a plank leading down to the water, the only one for some distance, while the slush and ely well covered by trash wood and small tively well covered by trash wood and small sticks, making walking to the water comparatively safe without sinking deep into the mud. The only impression a close scrutiny of the ground revealed was a deep imprint as though made by the toe of a shoe, and which was filled with water. This imprint was made by a narrow-pointed shoe, while those the policeman wore were of the usually wide-toed pattern, common with the force. Sergt. Dugey and Officer O'Brien are said to have been the only persons who made an inspection of the spot before the arrival of the reporter. This foot print was matched a short porter. This foot print was matched a short distance to the left by mother imprint less plain, as though some one had stepped on the place since the original shoe left the place. Taking these two foot prints together it looks as though some one had stooped over, pressing heavily upon their shoe toes and deposited the body where it was found. Back of this is an apparent knee mark in the bank, which is about four feet high, below mark by some one attempting to quickly. ing made by some one attempting to quickly climb to the top, but who lost balance and was compelled to try again. This mark, owing to the recent rain, cannot be identified

NO CLUES FOR THE POLICE. Although diligent inquiry was made amongst the people who live in the immediate neighborhood, no clue was developed that will aid the police in settling the mystery which ensirouds the affair. There is no mark on the part of the female recovered that would lead to identification, while the part recovered is the most difficult of any to trace. The people living in the immediate vicinity have seen no suspicious characters nd during the past few days and heard nothing that would arouse their suspicions. They all say, however, that it would have been impossible for the body to have lain where it was found all day yesterday without they having seen it, which only proves more conclusively that it was put there last night. When the wagon of Bonieke & Sheehan, un dertakers, came for the remains, it was made more plain than heretofore that it was not a floater. When raised from its position it was evident that something that would get so far from the current would have to be far lighter than the bones, as their shape was clearly imprinted in the ground, although in an inch of water, the depth to which they had sunk into the mud being about two inches. It is a well-known fact that the shore waves, even though the dertakers, came for the remains, it was made that the shore waves, even though the at all heavy. Therefore, the only good theory is that the body was part there for the express purpose of creating the impression in the public mind that it was a floater. But if such is the case the idea was not a bright one, nor was it brilliantly executed, as the people standing about one and all expressed the opinion that it was put there by some one, without doubt.

AT THE MORGUE.

When the remains arrived at the Morgue aslabin the main room was prepared, and

When the remains arrived at the Morgue a slab in the main room was prepared, and on this the ghastly burden was placed. The outer doors were closed and spectators denied admission. exposure will in no way aid in any possible identification, and the depraved tastes of the morbidly curious must remain unsatiated. A measurement of the parts was taken, it being possible for the anatomist of to-day to calculate to an astonishing degree of exactness the height, weight and measurements of other portions of the body, from the exact measurement of one or two bones. The distance across the hips is exactly is inches, and from the thigh joint to the knee joint measured 21½ inches. No other measurements were taken. One and all of the authorities refuse to advance any theory about the case.

A WOMAN'S BODY.

Two Men Find One in the River at the Foot of Smith Street.

This afternoon about 1:80 o'clock Frank Gleason and John Larch found the body of a woman in the river at the foot of Smith street, a small street two blocks north of Biddle street, It was supposed at first that it was probably the body of Mrs. Gaffner who disappeared from St. John's Hospital on Lucas avenue about six weeks ago. Unless the woman's appearance has been greatly altered by the water it cannot be Mrs. Gaffner, as she looks much older than the latter. The body appears to be that of a woman between 50 and 60 years of age, and it was clad in black clothing and white stockings.

HUNTING SHOULD BE STOPPED.

Mrs. Pauline Polk Brooks Protests Against Wanton Slaughter of Wild Animals. Mrs. Pauline Polk Brooks, President of the Society, sends to the Post Dispatch a strong protest against brutal sports and the wanton killing of wild animals. Mrs. Brooks has deroted herself to humane work and her views on such subjects are earnest and sincere. The paper protests against hunting as a "relic of barbarism," and reads as follows:

paper protests against hunting as a "relic of barbarism," and reads as follows:

The agriculturist of to-day has no need to hunt wild animals for food, and the alaughter of them for sport is a "relic of barbarism." As we look back with horror upon the "stake burning" practices of our forefathers, so will men, a hundred years hence, look back upon "butchery for amusement" practiced by their ancestors of the nineteenth century. As every act of wanton crucity is far reaching in its effects, the necessary killing of wild animals should be done by authorized officials, solely as a mater of business. The State makes its own criminals by encouraging the "savage instincts" of its people, and the bunder must also be noil for financially in the form of expenses incidental to the arrest, triand disposition of prisoners. The dealer of the action, and the wild animals peculiar and concountry. The antelope, the wild animals peculiar comes our country. The antelope, the wild animals peculiar common the mountain and the wild animals peculiar cardoon, the mountain of the charm of melicity, but is fatai to vegetation. Without these insectivors we would have neither trees, grass nor flowers. This latter evil is chiefly due to the "relic of barbarism" which prompts women to decorate their heads with carcasses. Five million birds are alain in the United States every year to gratify this ghastly taste. There is no element of bravery in the ideas of a man eresping through the woods for the mere bleasure of killing creatures which are both helpiess and harmless; and the quickest way to develop the instinct of murder is to place a weapon in the hands of a child and leach him to kill the birds for fun.

It is a self-evident fact that should approximate them is barbarian still. the committee is openly charging that the followers of "de ole man" took a hand yesterday in knifing the ticket in the interest of the knifing the ticket in the interest of the Democratic candidates. Filley, it is claimed, sent out word to knife everybody on the ticket excepting Comfort, and at the next meeting of the committee the members who represent "de ole man" will be called upon for explanation. One of the Filleyites who represents a ward in the committee which has always been considered a Republican stronghold comes in for some vigorous denunciation from a number of his associates in that organization. All this is due to the fact that his ward yesterday gave the Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates a majority of fully 400, though the very same section of the city has in past years gone Republican by majorities running as high at 600. It is claimed that he assisted the Democratic candidate in every way, and made no effort for any of the Council nominees excepting Camfort. There are other committeemen named in these reports, and interesting developments can be looked for at the next meeting of the committee.

UNDER WHICH KING, BEZONIANS

That's the Question at the Rock Springs Colored School. A small sized war has broken out among the colored children in at-tendance at the Rock Springs school. On last Friday Arena Christian and Rose Ross, two girls aged respectively 16 and 14 Ross, two girls aged respectively 16 and 14 years, quarrelled over some trivial matter in the school yard and in the evening fought it out on the street near by. The sympathies of the other pupils were divided and about twenty of the more belligerent responded to the call for assistance. A free-for-all fight of no small proportions ensued, in which several of the pupils were scratched and bruised. Rose Ross swore out a warrant charging Arena Christian with assault and battery. This morning the case was called for trial before Judge Jeff Pollard of the Fourteenth District. A score of witnesses were examined on either side. Judge Pollard fined Arena Christian 5 and costs.

The A. T. Stewart Heirs.

New York, April 9.—The testimony taken before the commissioners in Ireland in the suit of Sarah Branogh against Wm. B. Smith, otherwise and better known as the heirs of A. T. Stewart, to recover a large part of the stewart estate, has arrived in this city. The evidence which is very voluminous, will be used on the trial of this suit, which is on the calendar to begin May II. If some of the testimony which the Irish commissioners are said to have taken be true, the trial will be one of surprises and sensations. The main purport of the evidence gathered by the commission was to prove that Mr. Stewart had several close kinsmen living who were his lawful neirs. This close kinship is said to have been conclusively established.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 9 .- A special dis itself felt here in a peculiar way.

Agents from Omaha, St. Joseph,

Kansas City and St. Louis are in dealers elicited the information that there is very little hay remaining on the market for sale. The secret of the whole matter is found in the fact that there is a hay famine in Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri. The shortage is particularly felt in the latter State.

Baled hay was worth $17 per ton in St. Louis yesterday, and thither most of that purchased here is being sent. In St. Joseph and Kansas City there is a howl for hay at any price. Twenty car loads of baled hay are awaiting shipment to St. Louis in St. Paul. The entire lot was purchased at between $7 and $8.25 per ton and is already contracted for in St. Louis at $16.

The Local Situation In reference to the tightness in the hay narket, a large dealer said: "As every one THEATER TOILETTES. At the theaters these April nights the ollettes are very pretty. A low bodice in unil gold brocade was one that I noticed ast evening. Across it from the left shouland multiply flounces and cover oursely last evening. Across it from the left shoulder to the waist was draped a length of delicate pale-blue crepe, with dots of gold, a gold buckle with 'topaz jewels supplying the fastening. The brocade skirt was draped on the hips in the manner now so usual. The wearer was a not particularly noticeable girl with mouse-colored "American hair" and with her sat a girl in a fancy waist that deserved consideration. The material was a gray cloth embroidered in white; this made a lacket with tabs. and white roll collar, cuffs rich and stately and sometimes even barbarically gorgeous in heavy winter fabrics, in the gauzy stuffs of summer they are quaintly and airlly and shiningly picturesque and give the gay semblance of a hever-ending mas-querade. At an Easter reception the other evening acket with tabs, and white roll collar, cuff in place at intervals by devices in silver. Pale pink candles burned in silver candelebras and their fiames were reflected in drip cups of crystal. White iliac branches were heaped in silver enameled baskets and tall vases in blue Russian glass were set in stands of silver filigree, each holding for burden a stem of lilies. The dark polished beams showed in the ceiling overhead. On the floor were rugs that showed blue and silver.

And in the light and the warmth women smiled and men tried not to step upon their trains. There was a slender, angular creature with large eyes and pale hair and a faint flush in her cheeks, who wore a black filmy stuff that was dotted with silver. There was a quantity of frosted silver wheat at her bosom and against the fanilke epaulets of gauze upon her shoulders were backed great wheat bouquets. There was silver wheat at her walst and in her hair she had haif a dozen shimmering and glittering ornaments of gray straw, with trimmings eathers, was pretty in itself, but conside

It is wonderful how the streets are lines this spring with the stands of the flower venders. We all seem to be engaged either in selling flowers or in buying them. About one forlorn, crippled woman on a prominent corner neatly dressed women are always gathering. Making liberal arrangements for the transfer of some branches of white

A CHARMING DRESS.

There was a tall, quiet woman who spoke little; of the order one calls statuesque when one is so minded. She wore a cream white silk with English corsage straight about the shoulders and edged with gold cord that must have been half an inch in diameter, and that was knotted on the shoulders and hung down in loops and long tasseled ends. There was more of this heavy cord at her waist for a girdle, and it festooned her skirts and fastened her draperies.

There was a girl who was very vivacious, and who wore a straight narrow frock of old pink silk with black lines. A deep flounce of black lace was gathered about the bottom of tand few up, when she swished this way or that in animated pursuit of some interesting conversationalist, as if spreading its wings. Flounces of equal depth were sewed on as basques, and the pointed corsage opened almost down to them.

There was a girl in pink chiffon, whose almost down to them.

There was a girl in pink chiffon, whose skirts were as short as most skirts are long. She captured a youth with eye-glasses, and down they sat on a couch and she thrust out her feet to show pink slippers, vandyked in gold and pink stockings with gold clockings. Her shoulder puffs were very high and her laced with gold cords from bosom to waist. Her shoulder puffs were very high and her where it was clasped by a gold buckie. The Long cloaks for spring some in plaids, light and dark blues, striped with cream or pale yellow, making a striking combination. Such a cloak was seen yesterday with two capes and tied at the throat with gold cords. With itwas worn a hat of gold;straw, trimmed with black lace and blue bachelor's buttons. Red Draperies, Embroidered in Gold.

Both as to material and design it was notable.
Egyptian red draperies fell in a pointed apron plece in front, and were bordered most intricately with a wonderful, hand-wrought design in black and gold. The same embroidery sign in black and gold. The same embroidery covered the waist, and made the flitting transit from hotel to carriage a thing for the curious in such matters to remember. The skirt, which, swept the pavement, was of black silk, and in the woman's hands and in her small, flat toque were bunches of deep her small, flat toque were bunches of deep red, long-stemmed carnations.

Some of the bonnets are truly remarkable. There are shapes that are small and flat and indented like a heart behind. Flowers and bows stand up very stiffly, especially the peculiar bows of narrow velvet ribbon which seem bent on showing just how erect and impertinent they can be on the extreme front of the brim over the hair. Morning glories are favorite trimmings. are favorite trimmings.

PRETIT HATS. A hat of silver straw is very pretty with stalks of purple fieur de listied in with its silver ribbons. So is one of yellow-brown straw with masses of large-flowered mignonette for garniture. Yellow narcissus blossoms and pink and purple orchida figure prominently among the trimmings. had brown, fuzzy hair, and in her hand she held one pink carnation.

A sweeping frock in black net was jeweled all over with turquoise. Its wearer had silver pins studded with the same blue stone in her hair, and her fan hung from a huge clasp of fligree silver. There were several women in gray, embroidered with steel; one silver gray and trie waist was draped with selimon pink ruchings. A blonde matron with short, yellow hair and a fund of shrewd good humor went about doing most zealously her social duty in a black satin. other a clasp of pearls.

A PIN IN HIS THROAT. The Torture Endured by a Man in Will

NEW YORK, April 9.—At Williamsburg, three days ago Peter McCabe swallowed a pin, and he has it yet somewhere concealed from out-side view. He himself is frantic with apprehension, and so is his wife. Two corps of physicians in two hospitals have worked over Peter, with the result only that the pin has plunged into deeper concealment in his anermost midst.

At the hospital where he was taken fo At the hospital where he was taken for treatment the surgeons went to work on him but for a long time without result. They put a laryngoscope into his mouth, but discovered nothing. This instrument consists mainly of two mirrors, one held over the pharynx and the other in the mouth, by means of which light from the outside is reflected into the throat, which thus becomes visible to the operator. Then they introduced an exploring instrument, which is pretty sure to locate any foreign substance which becomes lodged in the esophagus, but nothing could be found. Peter declared all the time that he could plainly feel the pin lacerating his throat just back of the clared all the time that he could plainly feel the pin lacerating his throat just back of the Adam's apple. The doctors kept at it for several hours and about reached the conclusion that the pin had been swallowed and that the pain Peter complained of was a scratch which it had made in going down. Finally one of the surgeons introduced his fingers when Peter's mouth had been plugged open very wide with bits of wood between his teeth. The exploring finger at last felt the pin concealed in a fold of the throat just at the base of the tongue. Peter's location of the pain further down had deceived the doctors. As soon as it was discovered the surgeon reached edly gone to the stomach this time, and there was nothing more that the doctors could do.

The Sentence John Bille Received for

Shooting Herman Kramer. When the case against John Bille was called this morning in the Criminal Court Attorney Marshal F. McDonald, special counsel fo the State, recommended the defendant to the mercy of the Court. Bille was then permitted to withdraw his plea of not guilty to the charge of culpable negligence, and plead guilty to a common assault. He was then sentenced to serve one day in jail. Billie is only 15 years old. During last May he was employed in a salcon at Sixth and Wash streets. There was a revolver behind the bar, and in court this afternoon. Defendant is a well-known citizen, and is a member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of the city. The plaintiff also comes of a good family, her father having been John D. beer regularly every day, but denied that she was ever drunk, She also doctors told him to go home and keep quiet for two or three days, and that probably the pin would give him no further trouble.

But Mr. McCabe's fears are not to be quieted so easily. He soon returned to the hospital and declared that he was dying. He was put to bed and calmed down. All the doctors who have had anything to do with the case agree that Peter's apprehensions will probably be relieved in two or three days. Of course, there is danger that the pin may get stuck somewhere and induce very serious consequences, but it is wonderful what dimcult conditions a man's delicate internal economy will adapt itself to.

lews is incorrect in some of the details Isaac P. Lusk, Assistant Superintendent the Diamond Jo Line and manager jof its erests in St. Louis, was seen by a Post-Dis-arch reporter this morning and stated that reason for the St. Louis & St. Paul Packet Co. selling out from the trade was that it was too far removed from the headquarters of the company at St. Paul. There was no such final move contemplated, however, as an abandonment of the entire Upper Mississippi River trade by the St. Louis & St. Paul Co The company still owns two steamers, the St. Paul and the War Eagle, and will compete for the through trade between St. Louis and St. Paul the same as before.

Mr. Kanower, who has long been Investigation of the reported sale proved it to be a fact, although the telegraphic the first consignment of cattle to Hamburg that has gone to that port from Missouri in several years. I am not sending any Kansas stock, but made my purchases entirely in this State, as the beef steers here are finer and heavier than those we can raise in Kansas and in shipping to such a distance it is advisable to carry as much beef to the head as possible, and to avoid paying freight for re-fuse. Judging from letters received from Germany it is reasonably certain that there will be very little trouble in future in regard o our cattle. Those that have be to our cattle. Those that have been sent lately have not only been delayed very little by inspection, but have also sold at very high prices, and the returns have been very large, as the readiness with which cattle have been passed has put a stop to the cost of holding passed has put a stop to the cost of holding the stock. I have contracted for 150 head of fine cattle in this State to be delivered in New York before the 26th of the present month, and for 250 head to be delivered by May 5. All these will go to Hamburg. The advantages that will accrue to the American cattle owners from the opening of the German market will be immense, and the outlook for the coming summer is better than it has been for years. Very little range stock will be sent abroad, the finer corn-fed beef being preferred, and the places on the farms vacated by the sale of the cattle will be filled by 2 and 3-year-olds from the ranges. After one or two seasons fattening this stock will be shipped across the ocean. Missouri will certainly gain more than any other State, for its proximity to the ranges, the abundance of grass and water, and the cheapness of corn renders it the best State in the Union as a ripening ground, and the shipments from here to Germany are certain to be exceedingly heavy." ain to be exceedingly heavy."

Douglas Leaves the City and the Wheel War has broken out afresh in the Wood-worth Mission trouble, and a new aspect has been added to that ever-changing camp of christian hostility.

Mrl A. Douglas, once the trusted lieutenant of Mrs. Woodworth, has left the city, and ion-Able faction is claiming the the Wheeldon-Ahle faction is claiming that he has left for good, with a financial irregu-larity in his accounts, which Mrs. Wood-worth refuses to investigate. That faction has evidently been campling on Evangelist Douglas' trail, with a view to unearthing his ecord prior to his stormy connection with he Woodworth mission. Ex-Evangelis with Douglas' wife, a Mrs. Nannie Douglas and has received a letter from that lady in which she speaks very plainly of Mrs. Wood worth's former chief of staff.

Mrs. Douglas, it seems, is living at Mexico, Mo., deprived both of the countenance and financial support of Evangelist Douglas. Mr. Wheeldon this morning showed the Post-DISFATCH a, letter from her in which she says that Alexander Douglas "was" her husband, but that he left her and his children over two years ago, and her done potting for over two years ago, and has done nothing for their support since that time beyond one con-tribution of the princely sum of $5. The wife charges that he left, pretending to go to a hospital to be cured of the morphine and chloral habit. She says that she would have chloral habit. She says that she would have sued for a divorce, but that Douglas has been writing back that he was sick and unable to work. She has not heard from him, however, since Christmas. Mrs. Douglas describes the evangelist as "a worthless creature," and says he has deeply wronged her, and she hopes he will get his just deserts. She closes by asking: "Where is he, and is he making any money or is he able to make any?"

"Where is he, and is he making any money or is he able to make any?"

The relations of Douglas towards his family form but a minor feature of the new attack made upon him by Mr. Wheeldon. The latter charges that Douglas has failed to make proper returns of money received and handled by him for the Woodworth Mission and that his disappearance is owing largely to that fact. He says that he has formulated these charges in writing before Mrs. Woodworth, and that he proposes to push the matter to an investigation. In conjunction with his attack on Douglas Writing here.

Mrs. Woodworth, and that he proposes to push the matter to an investigation. In conjunction with his attack on Douglas Mr. Wheeldon also intends, he says, to force Mrs. Woodworth to prove her charge of forgery made against himself, so that there seems to be a prospect of a very lively renewal of hostilities between the "outs" and "ins" of the Woodworth temple.

Mrs. Woodworth was seen by a Post-Dis-PATCH reporter this morning reintive to the affair. She characterized the charges of Wheeldon and Ahle as groundless, asserted that she had fully investigated Mr. Douglas' accounts with the mission, and found them entirely correct, and stated that while Douglas had severed his connection with his work he had not left the city under a cloud, but was conducting revival meetings on his own account somewhere in the East. She could not state where he was, and did not know if he would ever return to St. Louis. Mrs. Woodworth was very emphatic in her denunciation of the Wheeldon-Ahle faction, and said that their course was attributable to the fact that they had been "musended!" from

PLAN PROPOSED BY THE ALTON TO WIN ITS FIGHT.

The Company Not Worried Over the Situation-Wanted by an English Syndicate -Control of the Long Island Properties The C., B. & Q. Report-Inter-Continental Line-Railway News.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The Board of Rulings promises a surprise for railroad men to-day which, it is said, will equal the declaration of war against the Chicago & Alton. The Eustis of the Burlington. In communicating with that road on Tuesday, with a view to forcing it to terms, the Board of Rulings ignored the General Passenger Agent and took the case to General Manager Morrill. This angered Mr. Eustis, it is said, and he swore engence. Mr. Eustis went to Mr. Morrill, the story goes, and told him that it would be belittling for his company to plead gulity voluntarily and turn over a new leaf when the Board of Rulings had not proved that the Burlington had violated the edict of the East-Burlington had violated the edict of the East-ern lines regarding commissions. Manager Morrill agreed with his General Passenger Agent, it is said, and told the Board of Rul-ings to go ahead with its boycott. The board gave the Burlington a day more in which to repent, but no change is expected. So the second gun is likely to be fired to-day.

THE ALTON BOYCOTT.

The Alton officials took the announcement of the boycott coolly and referred to their experience in the previous boycott by the trunk lines of years ago. The Alton will adopt very much the same tactics as before trunk lines of years ago. The Alton will adopt very much the same tactics as before as to extra agents and tickets. They won the former fight. But the other roads did not refuse to honor Alton tickets and baggage checks, as they do this time. The Alton has already decided what it will do to get around the boycott. It is best described in an illustration. Suppose a man in Kansas City asks an Alton agent there for a ticket to New York via the Lake Shore and New York Central. The agent will give him a ticket to Chicago and an order upon the Chicago agent of the Alton for the Lake Shore and New York Central tickets. The man starts for Chicago and when the train pulls into the depot an authorized agent of the Alton enters the train and calls out for orders. The agent in Kansas City meanwhile has telegraphed ahead and the Alton man, who canvasses the train, hands the Lake Shore and New York Central tickets over to the traveler from Kansas City without the least delay upon the presentation of the order. The baggage checks will be manipulated just as easily by a local express company and the Alton officials say everything will be smooth sailing, it will only require the services of a few more agents. The west-bound business will be worked the same as during the previous boy-cott. They look upon the boycott as free advertising, which will benefit rather than injure the road.

MANAGER CHAPPELL TALKS.

General Manager Chappell of the Alton says: "As a matter of fact, we ceased paying commissions to Eastern agents at the time the original order of the Board of Rulings went into effect, and we did not resume until after April 1. The only reason we did so then was because we learned beyond question that, notwithstanding their denials, the majority of the Western roads were still paying commissions in the forbidden territory. ecause our General Passenger Agent issued | ing parties for the inter-c a circular refuting a statement that we were opposed to the payment of commissions, the Eastern lines propose to divert business from our road. In other words, we are to be oycotted for a mere declaration of rinciples which is in perfect acord with the agreement of the West-rn Passenger Association, of which he Alton is a member. After the notice sent y me to the Board of Rulings, I am informed hat on April 18 the reads will conserved. at on April 15 the roads will cease to sell or the Alton will cease to sell or tocept tickets reading over our line unless in the meantime they are advised by me that the Alton will concur with their requirements. They will get no such advice from me. The Alton is in favor of the payment of conable commission to ticket agents, and, ing always made public that opinion, it not now consistently commit itself to an osite policy. We managed to get along about two years without the co-operation Eastern roads and I think we will conto live even if this boycott is continued nitely. If the trunk lines are sincere shing to abolish the system why don't discipline their own agents who accept dissions.

wing the payment of commi orary. More serious difficulties come ws which do not allow us to do our usiness on business principles. The lents' agreement of 1889 accomplished perhaps, because it was not fried long h. The law prohibits pooling, the or convenient, if not the most effective, mof associated action, which is necessary order to keep up rates. It remains to be a whether any substitute for it can be and to check the tendency to unreasonably rates which always prevail with ependent action. Without some method effective co-operation, competing lines at become bankrupt, and in the end condated. Unfortunately all roads did not er into the 1890 association, but in spite of refusals certain important lines to join which, it is said, will equal the declaration of war against the Chicago & Alton. The board was in secret session all day yesterday in constant communication by wire with the Western lines. From the whispered conversations about the headquarters of the Trunk Line Association and from the animated manner of the members of the board, it was clear that the situation was serious. The second surprise, it was learned from an inside source, may be a similar boycott of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, which was given twenty-four hours in which to come to time and forswear commissions. The Board of Rulings has stirred up a big row with General Passenger Agent P. S. Eustis of the Burlington. In communicating with that road on Tuesday, with a view to forcing it to terms, the Board of Rulings ig-LONG ISLAND CONTROL derstood that it was for sale. Certain of the Vanderbilts looked it over and priced it and Mr. Twombley thought seriously of taking it; $3,000,000 does not in itself give a control of the road but it might have been sufficient to bring about a change of management if there were enough of the smaller holdings displeased with the present control. At any rate it is believed that Mr. Corbin did not feel as secure as he did before when the Maxwells held it.

It may have been this uncertainty that induced Mr. Corbin to go in as a bidder for the Maxwells' stock. He and Charles Pratt of the Standard Oll-Co. bought the $3,000,000 lot jointly and fear of the Vanderbilts has subsided for a time. The price given was not learned. Long Island stock stands at $5 on the market. It is said that a controlling interest could not be acquired for less than 120 and perhaps it would take more with Mr. Twombley in the field and backed by other Vanderbilts. Probably the Maxwells got a handsome price for their interest. It is said that the Maxwells, J. R. Maxwell particularly, wish to concentrate their wealth in the Central Railroad Co. of New York, of which the latter is President. A reporter saw Mr. J. R. Maxwell yesterday. He said he had a controlling interest. He referred all inquiries to Mr. Corbin. Mr. Corbin also said that he had nothing to say at present. Mr. Corbin is said to have had over $2,000,000 Long Island stock before and the addition will bring it up to nearly $4,000,000.

A NEW PROJECT.

New YORK, April 9.—There was a conference in Chauncey M. Depew's office yesterday morning between Lehigh Valley officials and New York Central officials with regard to the question of the building of the proposed Buffalo, Thousand Islands & Portland road. The Lehigh Valley was equally interested with the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg, in building this road. The contract obliged the Rome & Watertown either to build the road building this road. The contract obliged the Rome & Watertown either to build the road or sell out their franchise to the Lehigh Valley and let it build the road. When the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg leased their road to the Central, they gave up all their franchise rights to the Central. Mr. Wilbur of the Lehigh road has had a number of meetings with the Central officials in order to come to an understanding in regard to the carrying out of the contract with the Rome & Watertown and the building of the Buffalo, Thousand Islands & Portland road. H. Walter Webb said last evening that the negotiater Webb said last evening that the negotia-tions were not ended, but that it looked as if some arrangement would be come to other than the building of the new road by the Central. There are already two roads be-tween Suspension Bridge and Buffalo, and an electrical road is in course of construction.

Brooks' confession and the arrest of certain parties implicated was told in these dis-patches yesterday. Since then additional developments have occurred in the remarka-ble conspiracy to get the millions left by the late Loring A. Robertson, the leather merchant, who died at the St. George Hotel in Brooklyn on Oct. 10, by passing off "Cassie" as the widow and only heir. The first arrest was that of John F. Baker, a lawyer, who was taken into custody at his office at No. 156 Broadway. Mr. Baker is a white-haired law-

John F. Baker, the lawyer, and Harry Belcher were then arrainged. Ball in their cases were also fixed at $7,500, and they were committed. They had no counsel and had nothing to say in court.

Judge Martine committed them both to the House of Detention. That concluded the pro-ceedings in court and Mr. Baker and Cohen began arranging for ball. Nathan Lattaner, retired merchant, became surety. Mr. saker, who took his arrest philosophically. Baker, who took his arrest philosophically, made a statement to Assistant District Attorney Weeks of all he knew about the case. He said that he would have come forward and aided the District Attorney in his investigation if he had the slightest idea that his stimony was wanted.

"Ham keeping as cool as possible," said
Mr. Baker to a reporter. "My conscience is clear, and I will gladly tell all that I know of the case to any one who is anxious to hear it.
Cohen asked me to appear for him in the case. Cohen asked me to appear for him in the case. I knew Cohen from the fact that sixteen years ago he had a desk in my office. I think it was a very contemptible thing of him to drag me into this conspiracy. The last I had to do with the case was in the latter part of December. I had written out a lot of interrogatories for the Brooks woman to answer. I was particularly anxious to see some of the letters which it was suggested Mr. Robertson had written to her. Letters form some tangible basis to start from. I saw her at the Grand Union Hotel, and failing to get anything at all satisfactory from her, I went to Mr. Beaman of Evarts, Choate & Beaman and told him that I intended to drop the case. I have been in practice in this city for twenty-five years, and I think my reputation should be sufficient to show that this is a mistake to put me in with this crowd. I grad-for twenty five years, and I think my reputation should be sufficient to show that this is a mistake to put me in with this crowd. I graduated with Judge Cowing and I think he can speak well of me."

Cohen assumed the air of being entirely indifferent to the proceedings against him. He said that it was foolish to arrest him, as he could never be convicted. Then he sent for his brother and drew $7,000 in cash, which he deposited with the City Chamberiain. Then he was released.

WHY WARRANTS WERE ISSUED.

The information on which Judge Martine issued the warrants was offered by District-Attorney Nicoli on March $1. A separate complaint charged that on March $6, Cassie Helen Brooks did wifully and feloniously commit the crime of perjury in appearing before one Max Moses, a Commissioner of Deeds in Brooklyn, and swearing in a petition to the Surrogate for letters of administration to the said Cassie Helen Brooks, was the widow and only surviving heir of Mr. Robertson. The other complaint is jointly against Byron W. Cohen, James W. Daskam, John F. Baker and Harry Belcher, charging them with subornation of perjury in willfully and feloniously inducing Cassie Helen Brooks to swear that she was the widow and only surviving heir of Mr. Robertson. From five to ten years is the penalty of a conviction.

District Attorney Nicoll said that he would make an application to the Governor for a requisition upon the Governor of Connecticut for the surrender of James W. Daskam, who was arrested at Stamford, and who refused to come to New York on being released. The

One of the most important questions that will be taken up by the recently organized Traffic Association of St. Louis will be that in reference to a uniform bill of lading. For some time past the railroads have been en-

Brooklyn on Oct. 10, by passing oir. Classes as the widow and only heir. The first arrest was that of John F. Baker, a lawyer, who was taken into custody at his office at No. 156 Broadway. Mr. Baker is a white-haired lawyer who has been practicing in this city for the past twenty-five years. He was retained by Cohen to contest Mr. Robertson's will. The other arrest was that of Harry Belcher, formerly Tom Gould's bartender, who is said to be the man who suggested the contest of the man who suggested the contest white hattering the contest white hattering the contest white hattering the contest white hattering the contest white anticipated that there would be some difficulty in getting Daskam to New York, owing to the strained relations existing between Gov. DENVER, Colo., April 9.-Mrs. Millington was on the stand nearly all day yesterday and continued to explain away the state-ments which have been made to show that

Millington as follows:

"I went to Denver again, after the funeral, and met Mr. Millington at the St. James and he showed me a letter signed Pete, in which the writer urged him to be a man and marry me right away, so as to afford me the protection I needed. I cannot show the letter, because the detectives took it when they turned the house upside down searching for evidence against me."

After teiling her story she was turned over to Judge Ballard for cross-examination and stuck to her story in a very plucky and determined manner.

Who usually have their suits and overcoats made to order, should see the celebrated "Eiffel Tower" make at "Famous." These

"They said I was consumptive, sent me to Florida, told me to keep quiet, no excitement, and no tennis. Just think of it. One day I found a little book called 'Guide to Health,' by Lydia E. Pinkham, and in it I found out what alled me. So I wrote to her, got a lovely reply; she told me just what to do, and I am in splendid health now. She informed me that she likes to receive such letters of confidence, as they appeal to her as a mother, and how glad she is to have the records of her life's experience among women made available to all women. These records are the largest in the world, and contain facts that cannot be found elsewhere. Thus will her noble work be perpetuated."

"Why, Are You Sick?"

"I know precisely how you feel; it is that nervous, irritable feeling, your back troubles you, and when you try to read a little your head aches. Isn't that so? I knew it. Oh, bother the doctor! Get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and take it faithfully as I have done. I've beer through this thing myself, but am never troubled now."

for Speculation and Improvement. The filing for record of the deed of convey an aggregate frontage of 2,869 feet of vacant avenues in Hamilton place suggests the money-making in St. Louis real estate operations when nerve and good judg ment are combined in the selec tion of property to be purchased.

Mr. Collins is in the railroad lumber and the isiness. His first investment in St. Louis real estate was made in the spring of 1887 when he was induced to take an interest with a syndicate then being formed for the purchase of thirty-one acres of ground on the south side of Delmar avenue, opposite Clemens place, the price for which was $55,000. This was the tract which had been left on the hands of Joseph T. Donovan a year previous. He had bought the property for the sisters of the Visitation Convent.

year previous. He had bought the property for the sisters of the Visitation Convent, who are now building a new place for their institution on the south side of Cabanne place, between Union and Belt avenues. Mr. Donovan had purchased the 31-acre Delmar avenue site for the Sisters at $32,000, but they refused to take it and he was compelled to perfect the purchase on his own account. The sale to the syndicate at $55,000 was negotiated by D. B. Haynes & Bro., giving Mr. Donovan a profit in the transaction of $22,000 in one year; a handsome margin for his compulsory purchase.

Before the syndicate was completely filled up Mr. Collins, feeling satisfied that the investment was a good one, paid the other members a bonus and took the whole thirty-one acres on his personal account. A month or so later he bought about $,000 front feet of lots in Hamilton place from a syndicate, represented by W. P. Nelson as trustee, who had purchased the ground in broad acres from the Clemens heirs and subdivided the tract. For this property Mr. Collins paid $7,000. He graded the streets in Hamilton place at a cost of about $5,000, making his total investment in the two tracts about $117,000.

ter Webb said last evening that the negotiations were not ended, but that it looked as if tooked tion of stupendous negotiations which have been pending in the interest of said roads and manufacturing concerns tor several months past.

Owners who have been posted, and others who suspect or anticipate the plans for the development of this section, have been holding their prices very stiff, from $100 to $300 a front foot. They have been very cautious not to commit themselves to any price. Parties from the humblest walks of life on up the social scale to wealthy representative men have approached these property owners on various occasions to get them to name a selling price. All sorts of excuses have been selling price. All sorts of excuses have bee seiling price. All sorts of excuses have been made for wanting to buy, but never a man has hinted that he was inquiring in the interests of railroads or industrial enterprises. Some of the sites wanted were purchased at $40 a foot or under within the enterprises. Some of the sites wanted were purchased at $40 a foot or under within the past two years, and it appears that every one of the would be buyers has been well informed as to what the property cost the parties who now hold it. When $200 to $500 a foot for $600 a foot is asked, the inquirer raises both hands in amazement, with the remark, "why, you paid less than $50 a foot for it in 1889. Do you want to rob me?"

When such an outburst as this is met with the inquiry as to whether the astonished party has an offer to submit, he has invariably walked away in silence to report the result of his investigations.

The Hammett-Anderson-Wade Real Estate Co. sold a two-story dwelling, owned by Frank A. Seifert, to E. P. Thonssen for $5,700. The property embraces a seven-room brick house and 25x140 feet of ground at No. 3857 Windsor, where the purchaser will make his residence. Another sale by the same firm was that of a 50x193 foot lot situate on the north line of Hammett place, 107 feet west of Marcus, at $25 a foot, from Geo. M. Caldwell to Edward Welch, who is going to improve the site with a $4,000 residence.

Republicans Anxiously Awaiting the Official Count of Tuesday's Vote.

THEY MUST DEFEAT THE INDEPEND. ENTS OR GO TO PIECES.

A Republican Who Views the Situatio With Alarm-The Vote to Be Canvassed Saturday-Prospect of a Lively Row and an Investigation in the City Cenprospect of the Republican party being ignored in the selection of judges and clerks at the next general election held in this city.

The opinion is freely averaged the state of the selection in the selection held in this city. The opinion is freely expressed that if the of-ficial vote gives the Independent Municipal party a larger average vote, the Recorder of Voters Carlisle will have to divide the index and size an the judges and clerks equally between the Democrats and Independents at the next election. As was stated in yesterday's Postrks says clearly that the party that polls the vote between the Independent and Re-publican is very close and it will take the of-ficial vote to decide, though the Independents have an advantage according to the returns brought in from the various precincts by

A RECOGNIZED PARTY. The fact that the courts recognized the Independent Municipals as a political party, and ordered the placing of its nominees on the official ballot under its own caption answers the claim made by some of the Republicans that the Independents cannot call their organization a political party. Recorder Carlisle says he will, under the decision of the second the programment. cision of the court, recognize the movement as a distinct political party and accept its nominations in the same manner as those of the other parties, if it cares to place a ticket before the voters at the next tion. Discussing this subject this morning he said: "I no doubt that the law was intended to have no doubt that the law was intended to give the two parties receiving the largest and second largest vote the judges and clerks, but there is one point that is not clear to me, Under the head of municipal elections in cities of the first class we find this section. The first general election for elective officers shall be held on the first Tuesday in April and every four years thereafter, and all such elections shall be held under the provisions of the general law."

"Now, this office went with the understanding that Tuesday" election was a general election. It was regular election held in every part of the city and was general in the city of St. Louis, Under the old election law, when but four judges were selected for each polling place, it was simply required that not more than two of their number be of the same political faith. The new section defines that the judges shall be selected from the parties that run first and second at the preceding election. It looks to me much the preceding election. It looks to me much as though the Independents and Democrats will divide the judges at the next election, with the understanding, of course, that the new party nominates a ticket. I suppose we will have some legal opinions on this score if the Independents figure in the next came.

The Democratic workers are of course jubi-The Democratic workers are of course jubilant, and there is little sympathy expressed for the Republicans, who have become startled at the announcement that they may be ignored entirely at the next general election. Chairman Bain to day said that he had not looked up the law carefully and did not propose to borrow any trouble on the subject. "Wait till the official count is completed," he said, "it may show that we have a larger aggregate vote than the Independent "WANTED—Boy to learn harness making; "WANTED—Boy to learn harness making; "WANTED—Colored boy to work around the work around the subject."

was even more serious than most Republi-cans were disposed to consider it. He said: "If the official vote shows He said: "If the official vote shows that the Independents have beaten us in the grand total, their party which has been recognized as a political organization, can go on and demand half the judges and clerks under the new section of the election laws, If the gentlemen now at the head of the movement determine not to put a ticket in the field at the next election, a Democratic move might be made to make a ticket bearing an Independent label so as to get the judges and label so as to get the judges and clerks. This would throw every polling place in the city entirely into Democratic hands and leave the Republicans in a helpless condition. I don't say that this will occur, but speak of it only as a possibility. We Republicans, to be on the safe side, must gain enough in the official count to put us ahead of the Independents. We live in hope, and the count may give us an advantage in the aggregate vote."

Recorder of Voters Carlisle selected Justices of the Peace Pollard and Mielert to serve with him as a Board of Canvassers as required by law. Pollard will represent the Democrats and Mielert the Republicans. It will begin at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and will, Recorder Carlisle expects, be completed before night.

To Settle a Wager.

As a result of the Ninth Ward election Tony Nelser, a South St. Louis Democrat, will have to wheel John Welkener, a Republican to wheel John Welkener, a Republican, around Benton Park next Sunday between 10 and 12 o'clock. Gus Gleselman will carry a banner to explain the meaning of the strange turnout. A band may also be secured. Neiser bet on the Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates and lost and in accordance with his agreement will have to wheel around 250 pounds of Republicanism. Neiser weighs 255 pounds.

HAS A WHITE WIFE.

HAVERHILL, Mass., April 8.—When Rev. C. E. Roberts, the colored evangelist who presides over the Pleasant street Tabernacle, vent away a week ago he was, alone, When he returned he had a wife, pretty, bright and 25. She is also white. Miss Martha Abbott was her name, and she came from Putnam. He first saw her at Worcester a few months He first saw her at Worcester a few months ago, while engaged in his religious work. She became infatuated with the tail, handsome colored man, and followed him from place to place. Last week Roberts suddenly left the city and went to New York, where he met Miss Abbott, and they were married by Rev. Mr. Boswell, and returned to Worcester. There Mrs. Roberts stayed until Monday. Mr. Roberts returned Saturday night and preached on Sunday as usual. Monday he retured to Worcester, and last night brought his wife home with him. She presided at the organ at the meeting, and played with much expression and sang sweetly several songs after the services. She met her husband's parishioners and greeted them kindly. His sermon last evening was an attack upon the parishioners who had circulated malicious stories in regard to the affair. "I am married," he said, "lawfully married, and that is all there is to be said." SIJACOBS OLL

SAVAGEAU-DUHRING. SAVAGEAU—DUHRING.

At 9:80 yesterday morning Miss Marie Celeste Duhring of Kansas City and Mr. Roach Savageau of Denver were married at the Catholic Cathedral in Kansos City by the Rev. Father Glenman. The church was well filled with the friends of the bride, nearly 1,000 invitations having been issued to the wedding ceremony. Mr. Lewis, the organist of All Souls' Unitarian Church. In the choir of which the bride tarian Church, in the choir of which the bride had been the soprano for six years, presided at the organ and Mrs. Grace Ingold-Van Valk-enburg, the contraito of the same choir, sang an offertory.

Long before the appointed hour the forto fill with the many young friends of the bride so that by the time the organ swelled forth into the grand triumphal wedding march at least three-fourths of the Invitations sent out had been represented. The bride's attendant was Miss Marle Jones of St. Louis, and the groom's Mr. Harry M. Duhring, brother of the bride. The ceremony was beautiful and impressive, as the service of the Catholic Church always is, but seemingly more so upon this occasion, because of the beautiful surroundings. Following the marriage services. of the beautiful surroundings. Following the marriage ceremony proper nuptial mass was celebrated by Father Glennon. The bride wore a French robe of white china silk, with demi-traine, V neck and point lace trimmings. Her ornaments were diamonds, the gift of the groom. At 12 o'clock the bridal party was given a breakfast at the bride's home, 417 Aldine place, to which only a few were bidden. Mr. and Mrs. Savageau left last evening for St. Louis, where Mr. Savageau's parents and the bride's relations live. After visiting them for a week they will leave for their nome in Denver.

DECATUR'S GREAT DAY.

Silver Jubilee of the Grand Army-Events in Illinois.

in Illinois.

DECATUR, Ill., April 9.—Decatur was crowded with strangers yesterday to witness the hig street parade in celebration of the silver jubilee of the Grand Army of the Republe. Missouri had 150 Grand Army men in line, including Post Department Commander Lee Rassieur. Decatur has a great history in matters relating to the lake war as, besides being the birtiplace of the G. A. R. and the Woman's Relief Corps, it is where Grant raised his first regiment and where Lincoln and Oglesby achieved celebrity. Decatur was for a long time the home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and it was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and the was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and the was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and the was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and the was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and the was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and the was hete that he was first home of Lincoln, and the was hete that he was first home.

SHERMAN'S BEE BATTLE.

AFTER THEY GOT UP HIS TROUSERS' LEGS
HE SURRENDERED THE CAMP.

Congressman Cummings' Description of a Novel Plantation Scene—A Lively Horseback Ride—"Pigeon-Wings Cut at Shady Dale"—Stories of War Days.

With a little squad of troopers he made a raid upon the gums. After selecting the most likely in appearance, he turned it over and clapped the half of a peep tent over the open end of it. A peep tent is what was termed a sheliter tent in the Army of the Potomac, After the gum was thus secured it was lifted up in front of Belknap, who was still astride his horse. He held it in place with his left arm and gave a free rein to his steed.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Col. Charles Belknap was among the members representing the House of Representatives at the funeral of Gen. Sherman, He is a modest gentleman, thin and of medium stature. He has hardly a military bearing; yet he has seen as much House of Representatives at the funeral of Gen. Sherman. He is a modest gentleman, thin and of medium stature. He has hardly a military bearing; yet he has seen as much a military bearing; yet he has seen as much active service in the war as any man upon the floor of the House. He served in the Army of the Cumberland and became a great favorite with Gen. Sherman. On the way favorite with Gen. Sherman. On the way back to Washington after the Sherman funeral pageant he told many a story of the dead General. Two remained impressed upon the memories of those who heard them. The Colonel said that he was attached to Gen. Cariin's division of the Fourteenth Corps. It was composed of three brigades. Each of the brigades had a good brass band. While on the march to the sea the music of these bands lightened the burdens of many a tired and footsore soldier.

"I never shall forget one day in December, 1864," the Colonel continued. "At noonday our division halted at a beautiful plantation. It recalled all the feudal glories of the South.

not be alld over the mouth of the gum. The bees popped out and began to hum in the ears of both charger and rider. They struck the Captain in the face, stung him in the back of the neck, and pricked his hands, arms and legs with their tiny bayonets. They warmed the horse until he became almost frantic. He shot ahead like an arrow. His nose lay on a line with his ears, and in his fury he switched the air with his tail.

"The presence of Gen. Sherman aroused one of the brigade bands. It struck up a martial air. The effect was magical. The negro women went into ecstacles. They had heard no other music than the song of the mocking bird, the baying of the hounds and the meliow twang of the banjo. Their very souls awoke to the new revelations in the world of harmony. The pleasure was irrepressible. When the instruments gave a combined blast it seemed to startle them. ome Valuable Hints Regarding the Grippe—Signs of Its Approach and How to Counteract Them.

The discussion as to the cause of the Grippe is of course interesting, but it gives little satisfaction to its unfortunate victims. Whether caused by microbe or vagaries of the weather, its ravages continue and the country still bends under the scourge. In Chicago, recently, the deaths from this cause were so great that the undertaking facilities of the city were insufficient to meet the emergency. The death rate is correspondingly high all through the Northern and Eastern States.

It can not be too strongle impressed on people that in order to ward off the disease warning symptoms must be regarded and prompt action taken. It becomes extremely difficult to dislodge the disease if allowed to take its course. Hence its name. It generally commences with a slight headache, or pains in the small of the back or limbs. It does not always give one even as plain a hint as this—a feeling of tightness across the forehead, buzzing in the ears, or peculiar feeling about the eyes, may be all the caution one gets, so it is culpable carelessness to neglect even these slight signs. The remedy lies in a stimulant, and the preference should be given to whisky. All the doctors of the country are agreed on this point, but are very careful to impress on their patients the fact that pure whisky alone must be taken. Duffy's Pure Mait whisky is the purest on the market, and can be readily obtained at all drug stores. This preparation, which is indorsed by all the leading doctors, scientists and chemists of the present day, is this year adding to the first-class reputation which it won during the epidemic of the Grippe last year. There are many imitators who say their whiskles are "just as good." Do not be deceived. They are not. Duffy's Pure Mait is the only medicinal one.

GLEASON'S FORFEITURE OF YESTER-DAY'S GAME WILL BE CONTESTED.

Several Surprises Furnished by the Asso-ciation Clubs in Their Opening Games— The Chicago Bench Show—Fitzsimmons and Hall—General Sporting News.

The opening of the American Association hampionship season at Sportsman's Park esterday afternoon was not without its drawbacks. There was a street parade by both opposing teams and a concert by the band before the game was commenced. Deof over 3,000 people assembled to witness the of ball playing, but a dispute arose between the great captain and Billy Gleason, who was officiating as umpire, and it resulted in Kelly being put out of the game. Every-thing went smoothly for the first three inthing went smoothly for the first three innings, and the visitors, who were badly outhatting the home team, had scored three runs_while St. Louis was without a tally.
St. Louis was unable to do anything with the delivery of Willie McGill, the boy wonder of the Cincinnatis. In the fourth inning, however, the lad became somewhat wild and Gleason sent six men to base on balls. Kelly threw down his mask and declared that he was going to quit the game, as he could not go up against a sure thing and will be in a position to prepare it for regular training work. A contract has been given out by the Engemans for the construction of the Inning, again giving them the lead by two runs. They batted Stivetts very freely,

Gleason to commence his career as an umpire in his home city, where it was next to impossible for him to give satisfaction. He unquestionably made some very bad decisions, and by his work prevented the visitors securing a game which they had respectly won No one prevented the visitors securing a game which they had properly won. No one who knows Gleason, however, will for a moment believe that he intentionally robbed Cincinnati of a victory. He is certainly honest. The position is a trying one, however, particularly when a man officiates in his first championship game, and that, too, before the people of the city in which he was born and raised. Gleason simply got rattled as it was most natural he should under the circumstances. Mr. Von der Ahe himself admitted that the Cincinnatis were not fairly treated in the decisions and he complained bitterly to Gleason after the complained the complained bitterly to Gleason after the complained t the game about the latter's work, and said

I have protested the game, and St. Louis will never be awarded it, for Gleason had no power to forfeit it under the circumstances. It should they are charged with. Does it not stand to son that with anything like fair umpiring we would have won? Even Mr. Von der Ahe admits we got the worst of it. I would not mind it much only for that boy, McGill. The little fellow pitched a phenomenal game, and it hurt me to see it taken away from him."

THE TURF.

Speaking of the organization of a National Jockey Club the Philadelphia Times says: The earnings of our skillful and trustworthy jockeys will be considerably increased by the elimination of the reckless, thriftless ally adapted to the business. A first-class jockey nowadays who sticks closely to his work and can keep his weight within the seasonable limits need not despair of earning legitimately from $10,000 to $15,000 a year, while good light weights will command from $5,000 to $10,000. Plain Talk to Workingmen.

The Browns scored five runs in that inning, while Cincinnati made four in their half of the inning, again giving them the lead by two runs. They batted Stivetts very freely. When Kelly attempted to go on the field in the fifth inning Comiskey objected and Gleason refused to permit him to do so, and despite his protests that he was only jesting about quitting, he was forced to adorn a bench for the remainder of the game. St. Louis secured a tally in the fifth and tied the score in the ninth inning. The visitors asked that the game be called on account of darkness, but Gleasbon ordered that it be played out. Kelly instructed his men not to put out the side, and after the Browns had piled up 8 runs and Cincinnati a great many errors Gleason finally declared the game for feited to St. Louis by a score of 9 to 0. The score at the end of the ninth inning was 7 to 7. Stivetts and Boyle were the St. Louis battery, and when Kelly retired from catching McGill for the visitors Hurley took his place. Cincinnati made 14 hits against 3 by St. Louis, and had 5 errors to 4 by the home team.

It was an extremely foolish move on the part of the American Association to schedule Gleason to commence his career as an umpire in his home city, where

THE RING.

The most aggravating circumstance of the Hall-Fitzsimmons affair is that Hall can find no one in this country to fight him, except Fitzsimmons, and if he can't get a match with the latter his chances of profiting by his trip to this country are very silm. Even if he should go to England and challenge Pritchard, in case Pritchard should beat Smith, Pritchard might reply that if he was going to fight any one he might as well fight Champion Fitzsimmons and gain everything or nothing.

Another Sydney correspondent says: "No Australian has left our shores with as little reputation as Fitzsimmons," but almost in the same breath he scores Hall severely for his set-to with McCarthy just before the former's departure for this country.

The Melbourne Sportsmen takes an entirely different view of Hall. It says he is no fool and that he will keep the American sports guessing when he fights Fitzsimmons.

An Unexpected Scene in the Rome (Ga.

Rome, Ga., April 9.—The prospective con flict between the husband of Mrs. Dietz, the chief witness in the McKee poisoning case on who scored her so unmercifully in his address to the jury, has been almost the only topic of conversation. It was thought that ther would be a tragedy when court opened yes erday, but an unexpected turn in events oc

When the court was called to order at 8:30 o'clock there was a large attendance. Among those present were the brothers of Mrs. Dietz, the Waters boys. Everybody expected that Col. Fry would make some remarks about the note received from Mr. Dietz, but the Colonel had nothing to say. Judge Maddox, however, had something to say, and he said it in a vigorous manner:

I have been greatly annoyed by newspaper reports that I have seen as to a difficulty that might occur here this morning. I have heard that perhaps some about the difficulty except what I have heard, but one thing I do know and that is, that an attorney has a right to comment on the testimony of a witness on any point that may be warranted by the evidence. When he goes beyond that point he is in contempt of court, and he is responsible to the court. I think it is a well established fact that this court has always made that ruling and adhered to it. Now I don't know anything about this matter except what I have heard, but I want to say that if any apology is to be made it will be made to this court and no one else. Any other apology will be made at the peril of the man who makes it. If there is any man in this court room who has any grevance to present let him present it now.

Judge Maddox here paused: many persons

Judge Maddox here paused; many persons There are some other things I want to say. If any man is detected in this court-room with a weapon on his person, either concasted or exposed, it will cost him just $1,000, twelve months in the penitentiary and six months in the chain gang. If any man in this court-room knows of anyone who has a weapon he can now step forward and make affidavit to that effect, and we will suspend this case right here and try the man who has the pistol the first thing we do. I want to say, further, that if any member of this bar is interfered with in any other way, it will cost the person who inserters with him $200 and costs and twenty days in the chain gang. That's all I have to ear, and now let anybody who weaks to interfere with this court begin right now.

Mr. Gibbons was pale and so weak as he entered the court-room leaving on the arm of a brailing that.

Broome, the other sick juror, sat in the corner of the jury box. Judge Maddox gave up the large rocker in which he was sitting so at to make Mr. Broome comfortable. Col. The latter left the court before it adjourned, but Dietz sat and listened to the speech of Col. McHenry. As soon as court adjourned he walked away. Waters was seen at his store soon after adjournment. He said that the remarks by Judge Maddox had no effect on him, as he did not go to the court-room to raise any disturbance. He and his brother and Mr. Dietz had only gone there to hear if Col. Fry would make any retraction. When asked what he would do since the Judge had shut off any apology, even if one had been contemplated, he replied that it would be improper for him to say anything on that line, but that he, his brother or Mr. Dietz had no desire to do anything that would pickling firm and a number of Fulton Market fish merchants have formed a syndicate to fish merchants have formed a syndicate to corner the shad market, and are now negotiating to buy up the entire product of the Delaware River and Bay shad fisheries. Haddington & Co., who represent them, have been visiting the different fisheries along the river. They want 200,000,000 shad. Although their intention is not known, it is supposed that they mean to control the price of shad. A visit to the Gloucester fisheries owned by William J. Thompson, and which has a product of $0,000 shad each season, showed that they had not yet been visited by the New Yorkers or their agents. Thompson says they tried to control the market. He has heard of the syndicate and expects a visit. The price of shad at present, according to a statement made by Supt. Gray, is $1.25 a piece, but in two weeks he says shad can be bought for half that price. When the fisheries down the river begin to send in their catches the market becomes glutted and shad can be bought for $8 a hundred. The intention of the syndicate is to prevent this.

But mingling with the the grand, there are thousands of grotesque, baroque forms, plants "en masque," so to speak, plants decked out in the fiddle-faddle of the burlesque, and no more appropriate name could be found for them than carniva types of the vegetable kingdom.

It is a remarkable fact that nearly all of the grotesque forms of plants are children of a tropical clime. The Southern sun, which makes the human heart beat higher and more passionately, seems to have stirred nature, too, to merriment and riotous, extravagant nonsense. Now and then a little plant of such zone, but it looks like a curious notion among a lot of sensible, well-regulated thoughts said nothing. Continuing Judge Maddox said:

extremely grotesque flowers and we need but look at the petals of the "columbine," which are funnel-shaped. The Latin name for this plant is "aquilegia," from aqua (water) and legere (gather). The larkspur is another queerly-shaped plant which Dioscorides called "delphinium" because of its likeness to a dolphin. Let us look at the aconite or "Monk's hood," which looks still more knightly than the larkspur. One of the blue calix leaves towers above the others like a helmet, with the side leaves forming the visor. On bending the helmet back two delicate little forms appear that resemble the tiniest pigeons, and they seem to be hitched to a wagon tongue as fine as hair, pulling the rest of the flowery crown.

Nature must have been in one of her queerest moods when she created the orchids, for even the common species of that family have the most strongly shaped flowers. The rarer kinds are still more striking, like the "lady slipper," whose tropical outlines are simply gorgeous. The ophrys in their life-like initation to flies and spiders are even more picturesque. Then there is the "azure molinia,"

America is undoubtedly the home of the cactus, although some specimens are found in Africa, but they have been imported there. Similar adventures, however, of the physiognomy of the cactus are found in the sandy deserts of the dark continent, but they belong to another family of vegetation entirely, i. e., the spurge-cypress or euphorbid genus. their functions also. The holly belongs to this species of plant.

We who have never set foot upon the burning earth of the tropics and know only cool, shady woods, full of peace and charm, can have no idea of a tropical forest. The wonderful chaos of its infinite forms of plants is almost overpowering. Besides the luxuriant vegetation which gropes its way over the ground, there are the various with their rigid, branchless trunks and majestic, monotonous tops. The banana tree and the plantain, with its long, sword-shaped leaves, seem to walk on stilts, while the mangrove, of the order of the rhizophoracee, delights in growing along the coast morasses.

A plant of curious aspect, at home on the Cape land, is the elephant's foot. The root of this peculiar genus is a woody structure covered with shields, and it rises hemispherelike from the earth. Out of this clumsy hulk grows every year a fine, delicate leaf stalk with trailing branches, hearthaped leaves and beautiful little flowers, truly a combination of the coarse and the tender in nature.

Another carmival type is the calla genus, and the most curious among them is the dragon's wort. The immense flower springs like a wedge from out of the coarse and the tender in nature.

name implies. The larger portion of it sits in the ground like a root, and that part of it which is above the earth looks like a good-sized table. From either side of the queer structure issue ribbon-like leaves, which rest on the ground, and are slashed in stripes, that curi at the ends. These leaves seem to push out of the stem, as if out of a mouth. The welwitchia, so named after the man who discovered it; belongs to the order of fir trees and pines. It grows along the Cetacean Bay of South Africa.

Thus humor and satire go hand in hand with beauty and perfection in the vegetable kingdom, and it would be difficult indeed to decide to which one of our carnival types the palm should be awarded for the "best mask."

THE USURY BILL.

A Concerted Movement Being Made in the State to Have It Vetoed. A concerted effort is being made through-out the State to secure the defeat of the usury ernor to induce him to withhold his signature. The bill is intended to cover such cases as have from time to time been exposed in St. Louis and elsewhere where an unfortunate person borrowed of an usurer a small sum of money at very large interest, and then after paying in interest two or three times the principal, had their household goods taken from them and sold to pay the principal. The bill provides that usury may be pleaded in defense against an action and all the interest above a legal rate shall be made to apply to the payment of the principal. It also provides that chattel mortgages or liens on personal property shall be illegal and void where an usurious rate of interest has been charged or exacted.

The bill passed the Legislature and is now before the Governor. The usurers throughout the State have been exercising all the influence they could to pursuade the Governor not to sign it, but a number of St. Louis lawyers, prominent among them being John J. O'Neil, have begun to circulate a petition in favor of the bill. It is addressed to the Governor and the preamble is as follows:

"The Legisalture having passed the following measure to protect the poor from usurious interest and extortion, we respectfully request that you sign the same that; tmay become a law."

The law is then quoted and below is a blank for signatures. The petitions are in circulation now and they will be sent to the Governor in a few days. bill by bringing pressure to bear on the Gov

It was said that he had been offered, and had accepted, a professorship in a Catholic college in the Old Country, but while that fact was given as the reason for his leaving St. Louis, there was an impression that the father's strangely unfortunate experience in his work in this country was the real cause.
